BOYCE AWAITS COURT SENTENCE

Shortage In His Keeping of Brother's Estate Has Been Made Good

LOST ALL IN WALL STREET

William G. Boyce, who formerly conducted a blacksmith shop on State street, between Lee and Clinton avenue, pleaded guilty in the Superior court yesterday to embezzling the funds of the estate of his brother, Albert Boyce, while acting as executor. Judge Edwin B. Gager deferred sentence until Monday, desiring to further consider the matter before passing on it. Since Boyce's arrest a few months ago, the shortages in his accounts to the heirs have been made up. The full story of Boyce's arrest in New York State and his return to this city with Detective Cronin was told in the Farmer at the time of the arrest. When Boyce's brother died he left a widow and son, and an estate valued at about $10,000. The estate was partially in securities and the rest in cash. The securities included 150 shares of U. S. Steel, common; 200 shares of Chicago Terminal Co.; and 60 shares U. S. Steel, preferred. In cash there was $2,100. The will directed that the proceeds be distributed between the widow and son, the executor to sell the stocks at his own discretion. Shortly after his brother's death, Boyce sold the common stock of the U. S. Steel and the Chicago Terminal Co. stock and distributed the proceeds and cash on hand at the death, the accounting showing that $7,460 was distributed. As is the usual custom there was slight delay in the final settlement of the estate. In the interim Boyce went to New York and fell in with some Wall Street sharps. There Boyce was induced to part with his preferred U. S. Steel stock and with the proceeds invest in other stock on margin. The upshot of it all was that Boyce lost everything, and could not make the final accounting.

After a time, the widow who resided with her father in Long Island, insisted upon a settlement, and not finding Boyce in this city placed the matter in the hands of the police. James Boyce, a brother of the accused, came on from the West and promised to make good the deficiency before any action had been made against his brother. After William's arrest, his two sisters and brother, James, stated that they would stand for the shortage. Later the two sisters backed out, as they heard the widow would not prosecute, so that in the end brother James paid up the shortage, a thing like $2,000. Judge Edward K. Nicholson made a strong plea for leniency for his client, stating that the estate had not been lost, that there was no shortage or defalcation, although there was at the time of the arrest. He did not want Mr. Boyce to go unpunished but did not want to see him go to state's prison.

Baggage Room Thief Goes to Prison

John Kuchera of Danbury was rather foolish when he tried to pawn some jewelry taken from a stolen trunk, for the detectives got wind of him and he was landed behind the bars. One of the most novel schemes ever attempted, keeping the railroad detectives up in the air for a considerable time, Kuchera, who was in the baggage room in the Danbury depot since the baggage check off his own trunk and fastened the same on another, that belonged to a wealthy owner, was worked to perfection, for Kuchera later went to the railroad station presented his corresponding check and got the stolen trunk. It is probable that if he had not pawned some of the articles that were in the trunk, Kuchera would still be at liberty. The stolen trunk belonged to Mrs. Elizabeth Benedict Booth of Danbury, who found her jewelry in the pawn shops. The railroad company settles with Mrs. Booth. Kuchera's case came yesterday afternoon in the Superior Court, criminal side. Judge Gager sentenced him to not more than two or less than one year in prison.

HARBOR WILL BE LIVELY TOMORROW

Harbor Master Charles H. Morris has been informed by George M. Yette, of Newark Aerle, Eagles, Newark, N. J., that the steamer Newark and Majestic will reach this city tomorrow, bringing Newark Eagles and their friends to view this city and see the harbor. The vessel, which is a fine one, will be docked at the foot of Fairfield avenue. The harbor will present a lively scene tomorrow. Many small craft will be engaged in the harbor, and many craft have come in from other ports to witness the spectacle.

EXCURSION UP HUDSON.

The steel steamer, Majestic, will sail from this city Saturday, Sept. 25, to New York and Hudson as far as Newburg. Those taking the trip will have an excellent opportunity of viewing the ceremonies attending the Hudson-Pulton celebration. The Hudson Ticket Agency has charge of the excursion. Tickets are on sale at Horace Jackson's book shop.

WHY HE LEFT THE MINISTRY.

"I could not remain a minister and be honest"—these are the words of a young man, who only three years before had attained the dearest wish of his heart—to be a minister of the Gospel. He had struggled through years of hardship and privation to obtain a theological education, and he entered the ministry with the highest spiritual ideals, backed with the sound common sense and kindly tolerance of the man of trained intellect. He loved his work and worked devoutly and eagerly. He left the ministry because, as he says, "I could not be honest intellectually. I could not be honest morally. I could not be honest socially. Repeatedly I made the attempt. Repeatedly the attempt ended in disaster."

Just how these grave changes are substantiated, this man who left the ministry tells fully in the October Woman's Home Companion. It is a human document of intense interest which should be read not only by every minister, but also by every layman. It throws a light on certain relations between pastor and people which are too often misunderstood.

SIXTY ARRESTS AT CONEY MARDI GRAS JOY FETE

(Special from United Press.)
New York, Sept. 18.—Sixty men, arrested during last night's disturbances at Coney Island, were given heavy fines in the Coney Island police court today. Spectators at the Mardi Gras festivities on the island declare the scenes of rowdiness and rioting were almost unparalleled. Not only were they subjected to all manner of indignities, but they declare their lives were endangered by the "joy riders" on their way home, and a dozen auto accidents, reported at the various hospitals, show that this complaint was well founded.

From all sections of Coney Island the 400 police on duty report scenes of disorder. In many cases insults to women precipitated attacks from the women's escorts, and numberless fights resulted. In such cases the police clubbed their way into the melee and arrested every man nearby.

At the railroad depots crowds were especially boisterous and women were

The Real Truth About the Sugar Trust

Column after column has been printed about the notorious Sugar Trust. And still you know practically nothing about it. The secrets of the power which has made the Havemeyer organization even greater than the Government which gave it life, have been undiscoverable, until Hampton's found the one man who knew or could uncover the real truth about this great giant, beside which Standard Oil appears as a public benefactor. J. C. Welliver is the one man. For months past he has been digging, delving, through the most secret records and forgotten government and commercial history. The result is an article of the greatest importance to the whole nation.

No matter how much you may have read about the Havemeyers and their gigantic fortune making methods, you cannot know the truth until you have read Mr. Welliver's "Story of Sugar" in lost, pinched and even knocked down and trampled upon. Many men and women were blinded by sand which some of the rowdies hurled in lieu of confetti and physicians on the island were busy removing particles from eyes.

The Mardi Gras festivities are given by the Coney Islanders themselves as the practical windup of the season, and are annually attended by several hundred thousand people. The Mardi Gras ends tonight and 200 additional policemen have been ordered on duty to prevent any more outbreaks.

DIVINE CLAIM AS SUCCESSOR OF MRS. EDDY

(Special from United Press.)
Baltimore, Sept. 18.—Declaring that in a divine revelation she was designated as the successor of Mrs. Baker G. Eddy, in the leadership of the Christian Science faith, a Mrs. Erskine, according to members of the movement in Baltimore, has laid claim to the leadership.

Mrs. Erskine, who is a prominent Baltimore woman, has been attending meetings of the Christian Science faith for some time. Several days ago, Mrs. Erskine went to W. C. Williams, chairman of the state committee on publication, and told him of her vision. She said that in the revelation, she had been told that Mrs. Eddy was dead and that she was to be her successor. She also told Williams that a young man whom she knew and who is not a Christian Scientist, was designated as a sort of deputy leader.

Christian Scientists who have heard of Mrs. Erskine's claim pay little attention to it. Williams said to-day that no Christian Scientist believes that there can be a successor to Mrs. Eddy, who is the founder and virtual leader of the faith. He said that even though Mrs. Erskine's vision announced that Mrs. Eddy is dead, the leader of the church is still living and working.

TOBACCO COMBINE IN CONSTANTINOPLE

(Special from United Press.)
Constantinople, Sept. 18.—A tobacco combine that will control the market in Turkish and Egyptian tobaccos and that will have a capital of more than $20,000,000, is being organized here, according to information that leaked out today.

The details are being kept secret, but it is known that Fakray Bey, a prominent Cairo lawyer, is promoting the organization. Fakray is the son of Sir Hussein Fakray Pasha, who for 30 years has held different portfolios in the Egyptian cabinet and has acted on several occasions as regent in the absence of the Khedive. His father's prominence leads to the belief that the combine will be backed by the Egyptian government.

The scheme, also, has strong financial backing in London and it seems that English capitalists will eventually control the enterprise.

ARCHIE AND QUENTIN ROOSEVELT RETURN

(Special from United Press.)
New York, Sept. 18.—Archie and Quentin Roosevelt returned from Europe to-day aboard the steamer St. Louis. They returned to resume their school work, while Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel Roosevelt remain in Italy. The St. Louis reports exchanging signals with the magnetic survey ship Carnegie on Sept. 17, the Carnegie's signaling that she was undergoing repairs the nature of which was not learned.

Why I Left the Ministry

—the actual experience of a country pastor, a devout Christian and an honest man. He and his people disagreed. Should he preach their views and be a hypocrite? Should he preach his views and disrupt the church? What should he do? Read what he did do. Was he right? This remarkable human document, written out of a man's innermost soul, adds the last touch of uniqueness and power to the big October WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.

Great stories by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Myra Kelly, Kate Douglas Wiggin, Marion Harland and Mrs. John Van Vorst; "The Love Story of the Queen of Italy," by Kellogg Durland; "Short Cuts to Health," by Woods Hutchinson; Edward Everett Hale's last writing; and eighty pages of practical departments—all in the October
